Does this interest/definition describe you? Why or why not?	Does this interest/definition describe you? Why or why not?	Does this interest/definition describe you? Why or why not?
I think it describes me because I like thinking about things. I like working with ideas. I also like looking for facts and figuring out problems.	I don't think it describes me because I am not a very social person. I tend to be really awkward in social situations. I have gotten better at holding a conversation but I still would prefer not to talk to people all the time.	I don't think it describes me because I am not a leadership person. I absolutely hate leading people and making decisions. I barely even like making decisions for my own life.
